

A Kiosk with built-in Near Field Communication Module

TOUCH AND GO

Enables applications such as access control or transport/event ticketing, where the user only needs to bring the device storing the ticket or access code close to the kiosk.

TOUCH AND CONFIRM

Supports mobile payment where the user has to confirm the interaction by entering a password or just accepting the transaction.

TOUCH AND CONNECT

Interacts with NFC-enabled devices, which enables peer to peer transfer of data such as downloading music, exchanging images or synchronizing address books.

TOUCH AND EXPLORE

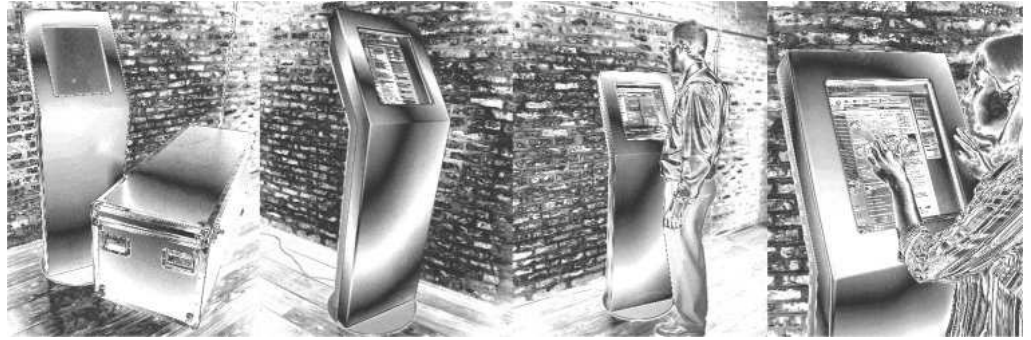

Be able to explore a device's capabilities to find out which functionalities and services are offered.

BUZY.BE developed for NXP SEMI-CONDUCTORS this next generation self-service kiosk with built-in NFC module. NFC represents the newest of the proximity contact-less technology, which beyond the RFID, supports peer-to-peer communication, and enables consumer access to aggregated services, anytime, anywhere, with any type of consumer stationary and mobile device. NFC is a Short Range Device wireless technology designed to exchange data, initiate connections with other wireless networks and act as a secured smart key for access to services such as cashless payment, ticketing, on-line entertainment and access control.

Service Features and Benefits
